

HOWARD S. WILLIAMS.

Gospel Tent Revival is a big success. Mr. Williams says no man or woman can be a Christian and not pay his or her debts. Failure to discharge this and other obligations are bare to the success of living right and doing right. Your religion is faulty, he says, if you fail to pay your debts.

HOWARD S. WILLIAMS, LAYMAN-EVANGELIST, THRILLS AUDIENCE WITH FERVOR OF WORK.

Howard S. Williams, layman-evangelist, continues to thrill large audiences nightly in Bay St. Louis by his fervor and firm convictions in his work for Christ. Each night sees larger gatherings, and so well is his work succeeding that it has become necessary to extend his time of stay. It was decided that tomorrow night would bring the revival to a close, but it has been extended to Tuesday night, and possibly it might run further into next week. However, this will be definitely announced next week. Mr. Williams goes to Gulfport from here, where he has set a big tent, and his stay here of two weeks will tax his physical ability, it is thought, beyond endurance. But he is working to save souls. He wants the sinner to return to the fold. He cares not what church. His work is non-denominational.

High Spots in Sermons of Week. Saturday night witnessed a large gathering under the big tent. His subject, "Fruits of the Spirit," was well received. His remarks struck home in many instances. The high spots of his remarks for the evening were:

Your life is likened unto a farm. What have you been raising on it? Have you made an honest effort to cut out the briars, thorns and undergrowth in order that the better fruits may have a better chance?

You go to the fair and see the finest fruits, preserves, corn, pickles and everything that is to be had. Do you display only the best that is in your life to your friends as you go about your work of the day?

"By their fruits you shall know them." How are you known, friend? Do you do only the things that are pleasing to Christ?

Do you cultivate your farm with prayer and God? Is your farm watered from the dew of Heaven? Is your happiness everlasting?

"The Empty Tomb." Sunday drew a still larger crowd. Services during the day were well attended. At night the Flying Squadron from Hattiesburg arrived and addressed the crowd making a striking impression. Mr. Williams was at his best. He spoke of "The Empty Tomb." Among other things he said:

"Are you looking into an empty tomb today, friend? If you are satisfied with what the devil has given you, why seek further?"

"What did you come here tonight to seek? Was it Jesus Christ? Was it for curiosity? Was it for more joy in the Christian religion? 'Whom seekest thou?'"

"There is a void in your life that nothing has filled yet? 'Jesus wants to give you peace and happiness instead of having you go without the treasures of heaven. Why not let Him come into that Empty Tomb tonight and fill you with a 'Hosanna'?"

"And if He did, did you say 'Rabbi,' which is to say 'Master'? If you have accepted Him as Master of your life, then you will have joy, peace and happiness that compares with nothing you have ever had before."

Monday Night "Fit the Sawdust Trail." Large crowds continued into the new week to hear Mr. Williams as he preaches nightly. Monday evening he preached on the "Test of Tendency," using Paul's words of "Press toward the mark of the high calling, which is in Christ Jesus. Twenty-six people hit the sawdust trail at the close of the service, either designating the fact they were accepting Christ for the first time, or were renewing their obligations to Christ and resolving to be better men and women."

Mr. Williams was again at his best Monday night. Among other things he said:

"Paul said he was pressing toward the mark. He did not mean the kind of pressing spoken of on the golf course when a ball is 'fizzled.' Neither was he speaking of the kind of pressing that is done by the young man on the dance floor as he holds that scantily clad girl in his arms. Nor was it the kind of pressing done while out 'fiver riding' at night with somebody else's daughter."

He is going either forward or backward. You can stand still. You either march toward the cross of Christ today, or toward hell. 'Are you drifting with the current on the first Monday of December, same being the 5th day of said month. Whereas, John Schulthies has tendered his resignation as keeper of the County Poor House, and, Whereas, the Board is of the opinion that the same should be accepted, it is therefore ordered that the resignation of the said John Schulthies be and is hereby accepted and his bondsman relieved."

Ordered by the Board that the commutation road tax for the years 1923 be and is hereby levied at $3.00. Said tax to be levied on all persons between the ages of 18 years and 50 years not exempted by law. Report of the County Health Officer was received, read and ordered filed.

It is hereby ordered by the Board of Supervisors that the following tax rates be and they are hereby imposed and levied for the fiscal year beginning October 1st, 1923, on all of the taxable property within this county and within each of the following districts, respectively, on the first day of February, 1924, as follows:

General County Fund, 100%

County Bridge Fund, 5%

County Road Fund, 5%

County Poor House Fund, 5%

County Jail Fund, 5%

County Jail Fund, 5%

County Jail Fund, 5%

rent, or are you steering your boat toward a definite goal? "In order to win in the straight path you MUST keep your eyes on the goal, and that goal must be Christ."

"Paul said he was 'forgetting those things behind' and was going on, 'forward,' to the things of Christ. Are you forgetting those things of your old sin life? If not, now is the time to let Christ blot them out for you."

"In running a race you must divest yourself of the weights that hold you back. Look neither to the right nor to the left, but look ahead to Christ, who is the Author and Finisher of your Faith in Him."

"God's Life Insurance Policy." Tuesday night Mr. Williams spoke on "God's Life Insurance Policy" to a good crowd, even though the night was cold, no one left the tent, and the best attention was given.

At the close of the service two people hit the sawdust trail for a better life, according to the terms of God's life insurance policy, as outlined in the 37th psalm.

Here are the bright spots from Tuesday night's sermon: "As Christ told the rich young man, one thing thou lackest, so does it tell you tonight if you are letting anything stand between you and Salvation."

"Is that one thing cards, dancing? Is it drink? Is it the love for some woman that isn't your wife? Is it worldly pleasure? No matter what it is, give it up. The game isn't worth the consequences."

"Have you taken out God's life insurance policy? You have insured your own goods in the home and store. You have taken out personal life insurance. Have you taken out God's policy?"

"God's policy offers you food, love, life, desires of heart and eternal happiness. Jesus Christ. Can you find a policy of the Old Line that offers anything like that?"

"You think more of your earthly possessions than you do of the one laid up for you in heaven. Why will you turn such as this down? The premium is paid on the policy on God's day. Jesus Christ paid for it by His death on the cross. All you have to do is accept it; it is free to ALL."

"Get out whatever it is that keeps you from the Cross of Christ. If there is one thing that you lack, get it out of the way and get a religion that will give you peace and happiness when we get to the end of the way."

On Wednesday night Mr. Williams spoke on "The Little Foxes That Spoil the Vine," this address for the children, and there was a large attendance of both little folks and grown-ups. There were many high spots in the evening's discourse.

Thursday night and last night also drew large crowds, and tomorrow will witness an active day. The program for tomorrow: Services, 11 a. m. At 2:30 p. m. for men and boys from 14 up. No young boys admitted. General services at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Perry, vocalist, with Mrs. Perry at the organ, have a large and successful choir. Music is exceptionally good.

J. N. WISNER RETURNED HOME THIS MORNING. Local Resident and Wife Reach Bay St. Louis This Morning After Extensive Visit to Europe.

J. N. Wisner and wife returned to their home in Bay St. Louis this morning, after a six months' absence, which they spent traveling England and Continental Europe. They report a most successful trip from every viewpoint.

Mr. Wisner stated this morning that while he had a wonderful trip and enjoyed every moment, he was glad to get back to Bay St. Louis. He found a beautiful place and a warm and friendly reception from his wife and their assistants Mr. Wisner gave all possible praise for their loyalty and attention.

Regarding the sloping beach, when queried by The Echo, Mr. Wisner said it stood well and had saved the bluff and street from a sliding place and had proceeded to put it back in shape and by next Sunday there would be no trace of damage wrought by the recent storm. With his neighbors willing, he stated, he would also proceed to put their "sloping beach" back in shape.

BAY ARMORY PUT ON SUCCESSFUL CARD MONDAY

Athletic Program of Local Mississippi National Guard Carried Out in Presence of Large Crowd—Main Bout and Preliminaries Well Received.

SAILOR JOHNSON OF NEW ORLEANS GETS DEFECTION.

Moran, of Pass Christian, Put Up Good Fight—Russell Ladrer, of Bay St. Louis, Enters Arena For First Time—McDonald, of Pass Christian, Good Referee.

Monday night the 155th Company Howitzers staged a good card at their armory in Second Street before a fair crowd of representative fight fans. Two good prelims preceded the main bout, which was a slashing, slugging match between Sailor Johnson, of New Orleans, and Young Moran, of Pass Christian. The mill went the scheduled eight rounds, and throughout there wasn't anything but fight, both boys showed their willingness to mix it, and the crowd appreciated the fact that they got their money's worth. Each lad tried his darndest for a knockout, leveling their blows for the chin button that spells sleep, but the punch couldn't be put over in the sixth round, however, when the Sailor secured the measure, the bell saved Moran.

Early in the engagement Moran scored with a stiff right over the left eye of the first blood, and the second round the fight was turned in to the go, when the sailor's left connected with the Pass boy's head and got the flow. Very little harm was done by either in the clinches.

Moran covered up with both mitts, replying in the hope of getting in a telling upper cut, but it was telegraphed to the go, and the sailor's left connected with the Pass boy's head and got the flow. Very little harm was done by either in the clinches.

The decision of Referee McDonald in awarding the fight to the sailor was heartily approved by the house. A return engagement of these two warriors is promised for the near future.

Kid Seube won over Russell Ladrer in the third round of the first bout by a technical knockout. Ladrer not being able to weather the pace, gave up.

Tally the second K. O. for kid Tomasiak. He won by a sleep walk in the semi-final over Louis Favre in the second round of a scheduled six. A straight right to the mid connected with Louis's head and made him take the full count.

Kid Tillie, who is to meet Dud Carver in Biloxi in three weeks, was introduced to the sports.

LITTLE BOY VICTIM OF PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

Son of E. J. Lacoste Falls Over Sea Wall and Sustains Broken Bone Over Ankle.

While returning home from school Wednesday afternoon, "Bobby" Lacoste, second son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Lacoste, fell over the sea wall, head of Washington street, and sustained a broken bone over the left ankle.

With other boys, the little fellow had been playing on the beach above the sea wall. It appears they were rolling a heavy log. Tiring of the pleasure, they quit. But it appears the log had not been sent all the way, in order it might topple over the wall to the white sand below, so he repaired alone to finish the task. In attempting to do so, he was carried over with the log, with the above results.

Mrs. Marshall Ballard was passing at the time and picked up the little victim of the accident. Dr. Horton was summoned and with the aid of an X-ray picture, made in Dr. J. A. Evans' office, the "break" was located and set.

The patient is doing well while the bone is knitting. He is a brave and courageous little fellow and bears his suffering well. His fond hope is expressed in the thought that he will be better for Christmas. His cheerful and heroic spirit will pull him through.

ACKER'S GARAGE TO GIVE AWAY AUTOMOBILE.

Not a Toy, But a Child's Auto, Will Be Given Away as Christmas Present to Patrons of Garage.

As an appreciation of the public trade, W. E. Acker, wideawake and progressive owner of Acker's Garage, on the beach front, will give away a child's automobile Christmas week. The auto has been purchased and will shortly be placed on exhibition at the garage.

The plan of award is simple. A ticket, with every purchase is given. Holder of every ticket will be entitled to participate in the plan of award Christmas week. The more tickets will give the holder more chance of winning the auto. This is no toy, but a child's auto. It will be worthy of winning.

ECHOES FROM ST. STANISLAUS With S. S. C. Collegians In Class Room and on Campus

Sunday the Rock-a-Chaws' Reserves will play the Soule eleven, strong contenders for Class B in the prep league. So far they stand undefeated and a good game is expected.

The "Fleas and Flies" are slated to play preliminary for the Reserves. Come all and see a good game.

St. Stanislaus Wins From Gulf Coast. Last Saturday, under threatening weather and amid much excitement, the Gulf Coast "Flying Cadets" met their first griddon defeat at the hands of the "Wonderful Rock-a-Chaws" in their own home grounds. The score was 19-0. Gulf Coast getting her two points on a safety in the last quarter.

Although the day was cloudy, there were over a thousand "football fans" present at the game. The spirit and keen competition in rooting predominated throughout the entire contest. The sticky Rock-a-Chaws drew first blood early in the first quarter. Gex had returned a Gulf Coast punt from the middle of the field to the 40-yard line. On the next play the Cadets' line failed to hold, and following a beautiful interference, Crefasi, the speedy half-back, went through for a touchdown. A touchdown. Gex kicked goal for the extra point.

The second score was made when, after St. Stanislaus had worked the ball within 15 yards of the Academy goal, Gossen tossed a pass to Bonura, who caught it at the very extremity of the end zone. Bonura missed goal and the score stood at the end of the half.

The second half gave the Rock-a-Chaws and its followers a little thrill when Davis received the punt and immediately after punted back without trying to return the ball, and the ball near the Rock-a-Chaws' 50-yard line. But here the College's line tightened like a stone wall and stopped the terrific plunges of "Husky" Davis, who vainly tried time and again to cross it over. Then a penalty inflicted on the Cadets lost for them the best chance and even hope of scoring.

In the fourth quarter the Cadets had the ball on their 20-yard line when Davis fumbled and Montz recovered. The Collegians began hammering the line and advanced the ball to within two yards of the Cadets' goal. The "Flying Cadets" held firm for three downs, but the Rock-a-Chaws put the ball across on the last play and the score stood 19-0.

Too many penalties inflicted on the Rock-a-Chaws prevented the score from being higher.

Pigford made several beautiful punts for the Academy, while Davis made many short gains through the line, but failed to get loose. Lewis played a fine game at tackle. The entire Academy team fought hard until the final whistle blew, but could not stave off defeat.

The Rock-a-Chaws put on the field a well drilled machine and the Academy line proved too weak to hold its drives. Crefasi, in the back field, proved too fast for the Cadets.

While Bonura, Welsh and Welsh proved to be a tower of strength in the line, "Doc" Gossen conducted the Rock-a-Chaws like a veteran. The entire back field played a tight ball. Cleveland and Schiro at the extremes did commendable work.

The line-ups: Findley, C.; Ellis, R. G.; Lewis, R. T.; Blankenbaker, E.; Pearce, L. G.; Joiner, L. T.; Mollette, L. E.; Davis, C. Q. B.; Cranford, L. H.; Brasfield, R. H.; Pigford, F.

St. Stanislaus—Montz (C.), C.; Welsh, R. G.; Welsh, R. T.; Schiro, E. E.; Bonura, L. G.; Bonura, L. T.; Cleveland, L. E.; Gossen, Q. B.; Crefasi, L. H.; Gex, R. H.; Jaubert, F. Scoring: Touchdowns, Crefasi, Bonura, Gossen. Substitutions: Gulf Coast, Tessier for Ellis, Farrell for Cranford, Clark for Blankenbaker, E. E. Bonura for Joiner. St. Stanislaus, Martin for Gossen, Q. B.; Crefasi, L. H.; Gex, R. H.; Jaubert, F. Referee, Freeland (L. S. U.). Umpire, Moulton (Auburn). Head linesman, Council (Seawane). Time of quarters, 15 minutes.

"Prunes." She—Shex, do you think you could learn to love? She—No, I'm afraid too. She—"This as I feared; too old to learn."

She (after a tiresome evening)—Well, good night; be good. Hatchet (brightly)—I always am. She—Yes, I'm afraid you are.

She—George, can you drive with one hand? George—Just watch me! She—Then please just put my handkerchief from the floor.

Slade—Are you from the far North? Hoof—No, why do you ask? Slade—You dance as if you had snow shoes on. * * * Now, Laporte, continue telling us about Caesar. Laporte—Then Caesar lost all his supporters. Lanasa—Say, Zeek, what has more lives than a cat? Zeek—I don't know. Lanasa—Why, a bull-frog. Zeek—How's that? Lanasa—He croaks every night. Bro—Willie, what is an icicle? Willie—A stiff piece of water.

THE SEA COAST ECHO.

Official Journal of the Board of Supervisors, Hancock County, Miss.

Official Journal of Board of Mayor and Aldermen City of Bay St. Louis.

THE VALUE OF THRIFT.

All the money in the world is no use to a man or his country if he spends it as fast as he makes it. All he has left is his bills and the reputation of being a fool, which he can get much more cheaply in other ways.

There's nothing finer or funnier in throwing away cash on things you don't want merely because the cash is there. We've all done it in our time, and we've all had to pay for it. The man who says he never worries about money is the man who has to worry about it most in the long run, and goodness knows there's enough worry in the world already without our going out of the way to add to it.

Savings represent much more than their mere money value. They are proof that the saver is worth something in himself. Any fool can waste, any fool can squander; but it takes something of a man to save, and the more he saves the more of a man does it make of him. Waste is an extravagance unbecoming a man's mind for every crisis, thrift, which means some form of self-restraint, steadies it.

Rudyard Kipling.

CREDIT WHERE IT IS DUE.

If the average woman was without a sense of the value of money the men folks would have a good deal less in bank than they can now boast. It is only fair to give the housewives of this country the credit that is due them, and it is certainly due them to say that the average woman is economical. Many a dollar lying in the bank and drawing interest is there because some housewife refused to agree with her husband that they were able to spend it for a luxury. The average man is a much swifter spender than the average woman, and he would buy, very often, beyond his ability to pay, were it not for the fact that a woman generally dreads debt.

Go into any store in town and note with what care the woman who happens to be purchasing something is using in selecting it. Notice how anxious she is to get full value for her money. Do this not once but a dozen times and you'll soon conclude that when it comes to "driving a bargain" and actually saving money we have to take off our hats to the women. The man of the family usually thinks he knows what he wants beforehand, and unless the price is away out of reason he takes the article without question, and without regard to its quality.

We don't believe there ever was a word of truth in the old statement that "two can live as cheaply as one." But we've seen enough of the care used by women shoppers to warrant the belief that when it comes to saving money the fair sex makes the men folks look like amateurs.

THE LITTLE BROWN HEN.

We've noticed within the last few years a growing inclination on the part of residents here and in surrounding territory to raise poultry, and the reason for it is not hard to explain. Figures made public at the last meeting of the National Poultry Association at Chicago show that the egg industry alone in this country contributed more than a billion dollars to the national wealth last year. Production of poultry and eggs has, taken as a whole, come to be a great business, because there is money in it. No longer does the little brown hen roost on the end of a limb back of the woodshed. Today she has a clean room, with plenty of water and feed, and she no longer has to depend on the garbage thrown from the kitchen. Her owner knows she pays for her keep many times over during her lifetime, and that, when old age creeps on and she is no longer a producer, she is still worth something on the dining table. Don't be afraid of getting too many chickens around here, for chickens and prosperity have grown to be side partners.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED.

Yes, times have changed. We had commenced to suspect as much, but we looked out and saw a citizen or two still in the same old rut and still knocking progress, and we doubted if times have really changed. Then our eyes lit on the following in an exchange—and we immediately changed our mind, we realized things are different now from what they used to be. The editor of the paper referred to says:

"Gone are the happy days when we used to wear a katie, ride a safety, drive a rubber-tired buggy, carried a torch in a Bryan parade, ate free lunch, smoked Cremo cigars, danced the two-step, went to a Chinese magic lantern show and thought the 'Black Crook' was a racy burlesque show. We didn't have much mamma to spend then, but we were the bug's bustle with what we did have. And a nickel in those days had more rubber in it and would stretch farther than a two-bit piece will now. Yes, brother—gone are the good old days."

SPILLWAY AND THE MISSISSIPPI GULF COAST.

Newspapers generally always tell the truth, but it appears, in one instance at least, headlines do not.

New Orleans papers this week carried headings to the effect, "Coast Is Friendly," and "Coast Favors the Spillway," reports from Mississippi Gulf Coast citizens attending the Commission in New Orleans Tuesday, and from representatives in Gulfport's business and commercial interests who attended the Biloxi meeting Monday, says the Herald, indicate that the facts do not justify the phraseology used by the press of New Orleans.

With the Chamber of Commerce of Biloxi already on record in opposition to the spillway, the entire delegation which represented Gulfport in the Biloxi meeting openly declared itself opposed to the project.

We feel certain if Bay St. Louis business interests had assembled under Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanian, Rotarian or other organized auspices, the declaration would have been the same. Undoubtedly the spillway will injure the Mississippi Gulf Coast, irreparably.

The Lake Borgne and other crevasses which have occurred in times past have flooded the Mississippi Sound with the silt of the water from the mighty Mississippi river, much of it is due to the damage of the oyster and other fisheries industries on the sound coast. It is upon recollection of this damage that protest is made by our people against the carrying out of a proposal to make a spillway from the river into Lake Borgne; and there seems to be much of reason in it. Moreover, it is not proved that an outlet of the kind proposed would give New Orleans relief in time of river flood.

The Mobile Register says Captain John Cowden proposed the outlet theory some fifty years ago and much was said and printed about it; but expert knowledge of that day pronounced against it; and we have not since heard of any acceptance of it by high engineering authority.

Sentiment along the coast is unanimous in dissenting against the proposed spillway, and that the New Orleans newspapers, fostering the project, should say to the contrary, is a misrepresentation, and, to say the least, damaging.

A MISSISSIPPI SUPREME COURT DECISION.

A Mississippi Supreme Court decision handed down Monday fixed the status of the lieutenant governor, opinion and action of Governor Lee M. Russell to the contrary. The highest tribunal in the State says the lieutenant governor is the governor fully and actively in his stead while out of the State.

Readers in Bay St. Louis and elsewhere freshly remember last fall when Governor Russell attended a football game in Memphis, and while witnessing the activities on the gridiron, Lieutenant Governor Casteel embraced the opportunity to issue a pardon, acquiescing to the appeals of friends of a convict. Applying for the necessary blank forms, told what was about to take place. The clerk issuing the forms telephoned the governor in Memphis. Hastening to the State line and across in a taxi he wired to Jackson that he was again within the bounds of the State and no pardon issued then would hold, and he wired the prison officials accordingly; that the pardon must not be honored.

An issue resulted. The authority of the lieutenant governor was doubted. The courts were appealed to. Monday's decision upholds the lieutenant governor, saying that he was clothed with all the powers and duties of the chief executive and had the authority to act within the premises. Thus this decision not only settles this matter and sets the prisoner free, but establishes a precedent for future authority and guidance.

A SEASON OF CLEAN ATHLETICS.

The people of Bay St. Louis and surrounding territory, lovers of clean and healthy sports, have much to feel grateful for inasmuch that we have a season of athletics made possible by the forces representing St. Stanislaus College and Bay St. Louis organization of the Mississippi National Guard.

With the football season on, the weekly meet on the local gridiron is enervating to the physical being of the onlookers and refreshing to the general mental attitude as well and the co-operation accorded by patronage serves as a stamp of approval, to say nothing of the financial stimulus so necessary to sustenance.

Lovers of the manly art appreciate the clean boxing exhibitions given at the armory, under auspices of Howitzer Infantry, No. 155, M. N. G., and are showing the spirit of appreciation in a substantial way.

The ancient Greeks were fond of their sports and their love for athletics is well high proverbial. Bodily health is ameliorated and the morale of a community is assisted by clean and healthy sports. So it is well we enjoy the athletics engrossing the attention of our people as it does.

Some girls would rather dance than eat, and they can always find some fellow who would rather sign a dance program than a check for a grocery bill.

FORD GASOLINE AND THE STANDARD.

It's about time for Henry Ford to get some more publicity, so the newspapers of the country are giving it to him. This time it comes as a result of his announcement that he may go into the oil and gasoline business, and that announcement is sufficient to create national interest.

We're like a lot of other people in and around Bay St. Louis, in that we believe Uncle Henry can make a go of most anything he turns his hand to, and when he says he can sell gasoline at 16c a gallon and make money we're going to believe it. There is said to be ample ground for believing that it can be retailed profitably at that figure, or even lower, by applying scientific methods. The present cost of manufacture is said to average about ten cents a gallon.

Ford, with his own oil wells and refineries, might produce it for less than that. There is no question but he could market the fuel efficiently in his own service stations, for it's almost as easy to find a Ford service station now as it is to find a filling station.

It is a very pleasing prospect for automobile owners, and there are also thousands of farmers and small manufacturers using gasoline engines who would be benefited by cheaper gas. Of course there would be the gigantic Standard Oil Company to buck. But when we look back over the big things that Henry Ford has done in an industrial way we can't help but feel that if he did go into the gasoline business the Standard would know for the first time what competition really means, and their old game of "crushing out the little fellow," a game they have played with greater success than any other American monopoly, would forever be at an end.

LISTEN TO THIS.

There was a convention of the Master Horsehoers' Association in St. Louis the other day. Right at a time when we had commenced to believe that horsehoersing was almost a lost art. But, just think of it a moment—a national convention of blacksmiths in an age when millions of Americans supposed the automobile had put all of them out of that business and into the garbage bin. But the membership rolls of the organization show that there are 5,000 blacksmiths affiliated with it, and reports show their business is increasing. The horsehoers of Philadelphia reported 22 per cent more work last year than the year before. How is it accounted for? We'll give it up. The blacksmiths of this country are now few and far between as compared with auto service stations, yet they must be here, according to reports made at this convention. And if horsehoers are busier than ever, and making money, then there must still be as many horses to shoe. But it's too deep for us—we'll have to figure it out for ourselves.

BROADCASTINGS.

Experience is usually what you get while you are busy looking for something else. Citizens of a community may well be divided into two classes—those who are paying for autos and those who are dodging them. The funniest part of it is that while all our senators return from Europe saying there'll be another war, no two of them are agreed on what is going to cause it.

If it was actually true that people liked to work we'd still be plowing with sticks and carrying our harvest on our backs. The women like winter best because the flies appear to like summer best.

We've noticed that if the husband makes $50 a week the wife is either slender or plump. But if he only makes $15 a week she's either skinny or fat.

Nothing is more discouraging to a good workman than to have a boss who is never on the job.

It used to be that parents wished for a rich uncle to die and leave them a fortune. Now they wish for a talented child who can draw about a million a year in the movies.

As a general rule the fellow who invests in oil stocks invests in a hole in the ground that hasn't even been dug.

Now that the big cold storage plants have been filled up with eggs the price has been slipped up a few notches.

It's all right to "bring up a child the way he should go," but the best plan is to set him a good example.

Isn't it until a young fellow leaves school and gets out into the world that he finds out how important gall is to the human body?

Who can remember the good old days when every man, woman and boy knew how to hitch up a horse?

Maybe it's not Coolidge's fault, but his dog doesn't get his picture in the paper as often as Laddie Boy did.

It's our guess that nothing is going to save more fuel this winter than the price of it.

Why is it that the man who does the most preaching about "back to the farm" isn't going there himself? A man may be worth all he is paid, no matter how much he is paid, or he may be worth less than he is paid, no matter how little he is paid. Don't complain about big salaries if they're earned, or about small salaries if they're not. Don't spend up and earn more. A Booster.

Don't add the Ball & Chain

Railroads are the most regulated business in the United States. There are all of 99 state and national bodies created by law to tell the railroads what they must and must not do. In no other business is individual initiative governed in its efforts by such a volume of legislation.

Notwithstanding the legislative restrictions, the railroads, under efficient private management, have been making rapid progress in rehabilitating the transportation plant after the well-nigh disastrous period of Government operation and control, and are successfully handling the peak traffic load.

In spite of the fact that net earnings have been small, the railroads of the country are spending this year a billion and a half dollars in the purchase of new locomotives, freight and passenger cars, better tracks, bridges and terminal facilities, etc., in order that the nation's business may move unhindered and the public may be adequately served.

Unmindful of the enormous losses and the under-maintenance during the twenty-six months period of Government control, there are some radical politicians and other selfish interests who are agitating and advocating Government ownership of the railroads as a solution of the transportation problem. They have a number of misguided followers.

The L. & N. Railroad, in common with the other railroads of the country, will get all of the facts and consider well the conditions which would exist under Government ownership. With these fully understood, no right-thinking man or woman who is interested in our nation's progress would advocate the further impediment of transportation by the addition of the ball and chain.
